To THE PUBLIC .- As there are many Gift Book Stores advertised throughout the country, Mr. EVANS deems it just to himself and his duty to the public-inasmuch as he originated such an expression supposes, the Gift-Book business-to state, as evidence of the instability of many such concerns, that they conceal their real names from the public, and are advertising their business, under assume tones. Mr. E., is aware that these various concerns published as Gitt-Book stores, are calculated to oring the business established by himself into disrepute. He asks of the public a correct judgment in regard to his Gift Book Enterprise, the honor, integrity, and success, of which he refers to all the prominent publishers in the United States. April 24, 1858. IL PENSEROSA. FASHION.

It is amusing, to any one who has independence sufficient to consult his own wishes and convenience, his means and his position, to observe how completely enslaved many persons are by the dictates of fashion. And it 7 50 is to a cynic a source of mirth, when the feel-5 00 ing of contempt, of disgust, or of pity, does 1 00 to 3 50 not interfere, to watch the manner in which the term fashionable is applied as a recommendation. A singer is fashionable-an ac-1 00 to 5 00 tor, a lawyer, a preacher; and thus quoted, each is A 1, as if song and elecution, law and gospel, derived their value from the fickle

Oft gained without desert,

As often lost unmerited. We are even told of fashionable undertakers! And, while our steps were one day recently arrested by a long funeral cortege, we heard the claims of fashion recognized in the choice of the last resting place of poor mortality. Enquiring as to the destination of the procession, we were answered-"I don't know, but I think ---. That is now the most fashionable cemetery." Fashionable cemetery! The caustic lines of Pope lose their extravagance after the fact "One would not, sure, be frightful when one's dead. And-Betty-give this cheek a little red." Fashion certainly should cease to be thought of, when the fashion of this world has passed away, and the clay cold limbs heed not their resting place. We must do our informant the fairness, however, to say that he did not represent the friends of the deceased. He had no part in their sorrow, or he could not thus have spoken. What was noticeable in his remark was only the strange inappropriateness of the adjective "fashionable," as applied to a burial-place. Yet it is used in many cases which do not seem absurd, only because there is not quite so shocking a contrast. The discrepancy, equally palpable, is not so offensive. What connexion can there really be between the fashion of a coat, and its comfort? What has the fashionable name of a cook to do with the No. 1. The farm called "BUSH HILL," in merit of his dishes? > The argument that fashion indicates approval, and thence implies excellence, is contradicted by the fact that when every body has come into a theory, the fashionable must immediately get out of it. It is no more fashionable, but vulgar. Fashion has two faces. It is now universal, and anon exclusive .-You must wear what everybody wears, and BUSH HILL lies tour miles from Alexan- you mu-t not wear what everybody can prodria, Va., ten miles from the city of Washing- cure. The thing we need in order to give tone and character to society, is more individuality of character, and less desire to find and follow a standard which nobody can fix. and which, could it be found, would be as little desirable as a joint proprietorship in the egg one takes for breakfast. Fashion, the of Bushrod Hunter, esq, and is susceptible of bait which interested dealers spread to catch and cajole their customers, is such a recommendation as supposes the follower incapamendation as supposes the follower incapa-mendation as supposes the follower incapa-ble of independent thought or action. It is No. 3. A HOUSE AND LOT, on Prince ble of independent thought or action. It is street, Alexandria, erected in the year 1853, the cause of more folly and absurdity, wrong containing tweive rooms, with gas throughout judgment, and ridiculous weakness, than all the house, hot and cold water in the kitchen and things else-not absolutely criminal-which could be named. "Fashionable" is such a snobbish commendation, that it is a wonder anybody can submit to entertain it; but when it is not only tolerated, but highly desiderated and greatly admired, there is but one compensatory reflection, and that is, that there may be found a test of excellence adapted to the very meanest capacity, and that therefore no head, however empty, and no north of the Cotton Factory; also, part of the ambition, however pitiful, need go without subject and object .- Phil.
